Summary: UPDATE: DISCONTINUED Alternate ending to Dragonkey Quest. Rapunzel gets transported under mysterious circumstances to Berk. She enjoys riding dragons and such, but there's one question at the back of her mind: if she was on Berk, then wouldn't Mother Gothel be there too?

Fate Can Change Fate

WOOT! I CAN ADD MORE STUFF NOW! WOOT! You don't know how excited I am!

I think this is going to be a one-shot, but it will be a chapter story if I get enough reviews! Read Dragonkey Quest before you read this, or you won't get it. Oh what the heck, read this anyway.

Rapunzel's legs pumped back and forth, faster and faster, as she neared her destination. One minute she had been on a boat with Flynn Rider, the next she was running through a seemingly endless, extremely dense forest, sure of her destination yet not sure what it was. Then all was clear, as she burst into a clearing. In the clearing was a small pool of water, surrounded by small boulders. The thing that put Rapunzel off and gave her a sense of urgency was the limp, blood-spattered form of a boy on the bank. The one with only one foot. And in the bushes near it was a black...wait, was that a _dragon_? Rapunzel, nearly tripping over her hair as she let it down, sprinted to the other side of the pool. The boy was already dead. Rapunzel saw a shadow, and looked up to see two more dragons above, fighting. Or at least, one was attacking, one was fleeing. The fleeing one had a female rider. Rapunzel was bombarded with images of a giant dragon, an explosion, a girl being chased by a dragon towards _this clearing_, a dance, a fightâ€¦ She had to try to save this boy. She swept her hair over his limp figure, and began to sing.

Flower, gleam and glow.

_ Let your power shine._

_ Make the clock reverse,_

_ Bring back what once was mine._

_ Heal what has been hurt._

_ Change the Fates' design._

_ Save what has been lost,_

_ Bring back what once was mine,_

_ What once was mine._

The glow of her hair died out, and the boy stirred, and opened his eyes. He had a look of faint bemusement on his face.

"Who are you?" he asked weakly, still recovering from being dead.

"I'm Rapunzel. You are?" Rapunzel asked.

"I'm Hiccup."

"Glad to meet you."

Then the dragon and its rider that had been fleeing the other dragon swooped down into the clearing. The rider dismounted, and stood there, mouth agape.

"Yeah, I know," Hiccup said. "I'm not dead. This is Rapunzel, Astrid."

"Hey, Rapunzel," Astrid said warily.

"Hi." Rapunzel looked at this girl and her dragon, and saw that the dragon was the same kind as the one in the bushes, except this one was golden.

"Astrid, I found the Potato. We should be getting back to Berk," Hiccup said.

"Right, right. Rapunzel, you can ride with me on Stormfly." Astrid mounted the golden dragon.

"Yeah, yeah, yeah, as long as your hair doesn't get caught in my wings," Stormfly said. It was Rapunzel's turn to stand, mouth agape.

"The dragon _spoke_?"

"Yeah, dummy, I spoke. Now, mount before I take off without you," Stormfly said.

Ta da!

You know, I think the one word I use the most in this and Dragonkey

Quest combined is 'mount', 'mounting', and 'mounted'. Wow. I just can't say, for example, "Astrid got on Stormfly", that just sounds like bad writing!
